STAY WAITS.

The favorite amusement of the emperor of China is to spin a top. Presley Comings, Eugene, Nevada, has a 6 1/2 pound potato.

Consumptives are cured in France by visiting the wine presses and inhaling the fumes of the fermenting juice.

Ground has been broken at Crystal Peak, Col. for a railroad to the top of Pike's Peak, 14,200 feet above sea level.

Every 821 individuals in England and Wales have a policeman to look after them.

Cornell University has an Egyptian student. He is a bright young fellow, and particularly gifted as a speaker.

A new device has been patented in London for generating electricity at so small a cost that it will be cheaper than gas.

The Altona, Florida, Argus, has a sixteen-ounce orange, a sixteen-foot sugar cane, and a nine-foot blade of park grass.

The ebony tree grows to be fifteen feet in circumference. The outer wood is pure white, the heart only being perfectly black.

A bushel of timothy contains 55,000,000 of seed. A cock-roach has 3,000 teeth. There are 490,000 molecules in an ant's brain.

W. B. Johnston has just ended at Webster, Massachusetts, a buggy ride of eight months' duration, his starting place having been San Francisco.

When your friend is married put your good wishes into the shape of an old English saying: "One year of joy, another of comfort, and all the rest of content."

The fish laws of Canada are becoming more and more strict year by year, and a notable increase in the supply is being afforded, the fish also being of a much better quality and size.

One of the curiosities of old Mackinac Island, near Killarney, Ireland, is one of the finest yew trees in Europe, planted by the monks some 500 years ago. In some places the ivy has grown entirely through the abbey wall.

In the days of the war a New York junk dealer amassed a fortune by buying fine linen clippings from shirt makers and selling them to the government for the manufacture of treasury note paper. He bought at six cents a pound and sold at seventy cents. Now his family turn up their noses at statesmen and college presidents who do not put livery on their servants.

Oshkosh is to be credited with the latest novelty in oculation. A rather dashing beauty kissed a pious-looking citizen as he stood demurely on a street corner, and then with a darling little shriek of "Oh! you are not my papa!" darted away. When the elderly gentleman had recovered from his laughing fit over the ludicrous mistake, he found that the artless creature, when she left so abruptly, was accompanied by his diamond breast-pin.

The first institutions resembling the pawnshops of to-day were founded in the thirteenth century by merchants from Lombardy who settled in England and France, and afterwards in the other countries of Europe. These lenders flourished and grew fat upon their enormous profits. Noblemen, and even kings, were compelled to seek the financial aid of these money lenders, and it is recorded that Edward III and Richard II pawned with them the crown jewels of England. Lombard street in London, and the Rue des Lombards in Paris are memorials of these ancient pawnbrokers.

Probably the most wonderful tree in the world is the Baobab bread-tree. It grows only to the height of forty feet, but is thirty feet in diameter. The age of this tree is quite incalculable. Humboldt considers it "the oldest living organic monument of our planet." A good sized room can be cut in the trunk of the Baobab, with comfortable accommodations for thirty men, and the tree still live and flourish. The fruit, which is nourishing, is about a foot long. The tree grows very slowly, a specimen at Kew, England, which is more than 80 years old, having only attained a height of one and a half feet. The oldest known Baobabs are estimated to be over 5,000 years old.

A Mormon Scheme.

A citizen of Salt Lake says the Mormons regard the reference to polygamy in the President's message as a menace to their political power and to their theocratic control of the territory, that their interests are too great for them to emigrate and that they recognize the fact that the people of the United States wrongly regarded polygamy as the only legal objection to Mormonism, whereas the fact is polygamy is simply an ugly feature, the real trouble being the Mormon priesthood's assumption of the divine right to rule. That they recognize the fact that their whole system is jeopardized if they retain polygamy; whereas with that feature abolished they would be likely to have an indefinite lease of life for the Mormon theocracy. The present legislature, though made up of opposition it will instruct the legislature to pass a law making polygamy a crime, and the territory would then be purged of the only wrong known to the general public. Then it will apply for admission as a state, with good prospects of getting in, and giving polygamists proportionally an increased power.

The San Francisco trustees of the Lick estate, over which there has been so much squabbling, have at last decided to pay over the amounts left by James Lick for construction of asylums and other institutions mentioned in the will. The amounts total up $345,000.

A Plan to Overthrow Southern Rule.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—A joint meeting of the National and Executive Committees of the Union League which was held in this city to-day to consider and decide upon the policy of the league overthrew the Bourbons as soon as possible in the Southern States. The subject to which all the speakers devoted most of their attention was the necessity of affording protection to the colored people of the South.

Governor Pierpont referred with strong disapprobation to the timidity or indifference of Congress in passing over the enormous crimes which have been committed in the South against a free vote. If the colored men there are to be protected the white men must protect them.

Representative Houck said in the southern states where the leaders of the Bourbon party believe in fraud and force, there would never be another fair election until the north was convinced that they could not control the government.

O'Hara, (colored), of North Carolina, expressed the opinion that the colored people of the south should protect themselves and advance their own interests by working in combination.

Boutelle said: I believe it is the imperative duty of the Republican party to encourage anybody who join hands with us to break down any attempt to prevent a free ballot.

A committee was appointed to decide upon a line of policy, and reported the following: "We believe, to overthrow Bourbonism and misrule in the south, it will be necessary to secure the support of southern white men, who will act and co-operate with colored voters, and protect them in voting and secure a fair count, we recommend the appointment of a committee of nine, the president and secretary to be ex-officio chairman and secretary to take consideration of ways and means to be adopted to overthrow Bourbonism and misrule, and as soon as practicable, to issue an address to the public, setting forth emphatically the condition at the present time, and appeal to the patriotism of the South to save itself from utter misrule and ruin, and for the North to make a liberal sacrifice in behalf of the objects in view by this committee and to act in co-operation with and subordinate the executive committee of the league, which is requested to assist the committee in the advancements of its objects. The report was adopted. The committee will at once take steps to perfect a plan for the league.

The Astoria Land Grant.

While we are of the opinion that further grants are not needed to develop the country, yet it is not the wise thing to join in condemning the past, and become a party to the undoing of grants that were given in good faith, and so accepted. Grants that were made and accepted, but by untoward circumstances were not completed within the specified time yet were and are being pushed to completion as fast as the circumstances of the case will admit, should be respected and held good. But where it is evident that compliance with the terms of the grant is not intended, and no reasonable effort is being made to comply, prompt action ought to be taken by congress to restore those lands to the public domain; such, for instance, as that portion of the grant to the Oregon Central Railroad company situated between Forest Grove and Astoria. Nothing is being done to earn those lands, and from recent correspondence it is clear that nothing will be done in the near future, if ever.—Salem Statesman.

General Hancock arrived at San Francisco last Wednesday evening. He was met at the ferry landing by Governor Stoneman and different delegations representing the municipality, also citizens of San Francisco and Democratic state central committee, who accompanied him to the Palace hotel. When he reached there he was tendered quite an ovation by the immense crowd who had assembled to get a glimpse of the famous general. On alighting from the carriage the general was received with tremendous cheering. Then he was conducted to a reception room, and from there to his apartments in the hotel. The general acknowledged, in a few words, the complimentary reception that had been tendered to him, and at the same time expressed fatigue at the long journey.

The executive committee of the board of directors of the Oregon Transcontinental have recommended that the January dividend be passed.

It is not a "cure all," it is a blood-purifier and tonic.
